Maurice Walsh’s The Quiet Man

Following last year’s sell out success of "Maurice Walsh’s The Quiet Man", Ballyglunin Railway Restoration Project and Abbey Acts Drama Group, are proud to announce the return of this unique stage play to Ballyglunin Train Station.

The play will be performed at the historic setting of Ballyglunin Train Station. The station is famous for its role as film location for the John Ford classic “The Quiet Man” starring Maureen O’Hara and John Wayne. Proceeds from the play will go towards the restoration of the station and development of a community and visitor centre on the site.

Abbey Acts
Abbey Acts is a well established amateur drama group based in Abbeyknockmoy, Co. Galway. The play is directed by Padraic Mannion and Marian Williams.

The Story
Following the original tales from Maurice Walsh’s "Green Rushes", Frank Mahon takes us on a journey right back in time to 1920’s rural Ireland, where life for many meant striking a balance between overcoming national bullies and appeasing local bullies. This two-act play has something to offer everyone; local/national politics, romance, humour and of course ‘the fight scene’. Most poignant of all are the loyal friendships that run deep throughout, making this a play to transcend any era.

Doors open at 7.30pm for 8pm start
